Milan Design Week 2023
Living Choices - being and inhabiting change
From 17th to 23rd April 2023
Via Augusto Righi, 1

A sustainable and inclusive future is possible and depends on us.

This is what Living Choices - being and inhabiting change, a project by Remigio Architects dedicated to social and green design to reflect on our choices and how they influence the environment, the spaces we live in and our tomorrow, affirms.

Through a series of installations, workshops and events, Living Choices aims to be an invitation to explore the role of design in contemporary society and its ability to positively influence people and the environment.

From 17th to 23rd April, projects that use sustainable materials and innovative technologies to reduce the environmental impact of human activities will thus be presented, as well as works of art and design to promote diversity, multiculturalism, and inclusiveness.

On this occasion, the chosen location will not just be a container of emotional, artistic, and interactive paths, but will turn into a real circular space, an agora to stimulate moments of sharing and discussion on the themes of sustainable design, urban regeneration, and how design can break down social barriers and stimulate choices for a better, inclusive, and fair world.
